An Expelled M. P.'s Prayer.
During the first half of the eighteenth century one of the members for a southern constituency was expelled
from the house of commons for forgery and indeed endured the purgatory of standing in the pillory for a day. He was a man of unctuous piety, and his career in many respects resembled that of James Balfour in later days. After his death the following prayer was found in his own handwriting among his papers:

"O Lord, thou knowest that I have nine houses in the city of London and that I have lately purchased an estate in fee simple in the county of Essex. I beseech thee to preserve the two counties of Middlesex and Essex from fire and earthquake, and as I have a mortgage in Herefordshire I beg of thee to have an eye of compassion also on that county, and for the rest of the counties
thou mayest deal with them as thou art pleased. Give a prosperous voyage to the Mermaid, because I have not insured her, and enable the bank to meet their bills."—St. James Gazette.

A Mean Snip.
"Very well," exclaimed Dr. Quick
after his quarrel with the undertaker;
"I'll make you sorry for this."
"What are you going to do?" retorted
the undertaker—"retire from practice!"
—Philadelphia Press.

"By hook and by crook" is an allusion to an ancient manorial custom which permitted the neighboring poor to take all the wood that they could reach and pull down from the forest trees, using only their shepherd's crooks.

THE CENSURE BANKING.

There appears in the JOURNAL report of assembly proceedings published yesterday some remarks made by Speaker Van Duzer about statements made to the effect that he was running the Assembly, etc. There is no good reason to cause any explanation by the Speaker respecting such reports, unless it may be that he is not acquainted with himself as he should be.

It may be true that he has not acted on the advice given by Pope. "Man, know thyself." It is true that Van has some very bad symptoms for a young man to have in Nevada. These symptoms indicate possession of brains, about which it appears the Northern Pacific has been advised. The trouble with the Speaker is not so much the possession of brains as it is, that they are ruining the young man.

It will not do as conditions continue to be, as believed, for a man to allow his brains to furnish motive power to the man in the Sage-brush State, as such persons in the past have received black marks from the railroad, but it is worthy of consideration that the man at the head of affairs for the Southern Pacific system has come from the ranks which indicate that he is a man of no mean ability, which should be equivalent to assurance that he will not be jealous of brains when in the possession of others.

Van's capacity has been discovered and small potato eyes are upon him to make it known to his disadvantage, which has been the business of a contemptible class of small creatures in the State for the last three decades under the Wallace system. When the Southern Pacific is in a position to appreciate brains in Nevada instead of fearing them it will be in a position to be regarded by the people of the State as a friend and not as an enemy. The young man's modesty seems to have had possession of him when he said he was not an aspirant for political honors which is nobody's business, but his own, till the time comes to make the fact known, should it ever come earnestly to his mind.

It has the appearance that the old Wallace hounds are on his trail, but his course is straight and his watchword should be "forward" while our bark at his heels. The time is near when brains will be at a premium, as the days of small men will soon be numbered with the past. Mental power will be in demand to meet conditions in the future that will come with the era of Democracy against Plutocracy. The rights and interests of plutocracy will be preserved and secured, but democracy will rule. It will then be that plutocracy will have age for clear heads and strong will, the effects of which it has sought to avoid by destroying for that class of men opportunity through the work of bosses and the use of money.

IRRIGATION DEFERRED IN CONGRESS.

The amendment to the sundry appropriation bill was killed March 1st, which was not unexpected. It was foreboded in the debate directed by Mr. Newlands on the subject of the bill through interrogation made by those opposed to the amendment. Mr. Cannon who opposed the bill said the time would be when the country would have to meet the question. The meaning of the remark by Congressman Cannon is not clear, but it could not in reason be construed to mean that the United States would meet the question in a way that would consign for all time the arid west to the domination of wild animals.

Should it be that the remark by Cannon included future appropriations to redeem the rich valleys of the mountain west for settlement and homes for the people, is there any sufficient reason in opposition to beginning now? There are no known causes that intervene to prevent a beginning at this time unless it is great expenditures made in the Philippines, in China and for purposes more directly connected with commerce, than providing homes for the people would be in the judgment of a strictly commercial congress. The time has come when the country will have to meet the question of irrigation but it may require some time for it to realize that fact. Mr. Newlands has opened the way that will lead to a system for the redemption of the best lands there are in the Union for crop purposes.

people that Nevada has no more than forty thousand inhabitants. One of the causes which seems to give force to the fact that there are no more inhabitants in the State than there are at present, is the need of water for irrigation.

THE LIBRARY TAX.

The library question is becoming a prominent in Reno as the library question was at the opening of the legislature. The great haste there is for a public library for Reno is not among the things that cannot be postponed. The people have been and continue to be liberal in educational matters, but there is such a thing as riding a free horse to death. An additional tax of fifteen hundred dollars will be placed upon the people of the town this year for school purposes. The county has just paid $12,000 to aid the University to secure land required for its use which was paid without any opposition by the people.

The additional school tax mentioned will not have any opposition, which is commendable to our townsmen, but the spirit to continue taxation seems to have taken possession of the minds of those who have their special schemes up or be carried through by taxation. Should it be that the writer is correctly informed, the people have all the taxes they care to meet in 1903. There should be no doubt about the fact that the town is more in need of other things than it is of a public library. The JOURNAL does not like to oppose public spirit in educational matters in any particular, but it is called upon to say that taxation has had its limit for the present and any additional tax will be oppressive upon many of our people.

Last Night's Play.

A melodrama, "Uncle Josh Sprucey's" was the bill at McKisick's last night. The company played to good business. One thing that helped draw the crowd was the "Rube" band. Although nondescript in appearance, the musicians made excellent harmony.

The play was of the thrilling sort, especially the third act, in which a real life saw mill scene was enacted. The last act was cut short and didn't amount to "much" anyway even if it was supposedly a huckling scene.

Development in Progress.

Active development work is well under way at Steamboat. A shaft is being sunk near the hotel by J. W. Hopkins. Pettigrew brothers have dug a ditch over a mile long to take water from Brown's creek. They will use it in prospecting their claims with a drill. Claims have been located for several miles east and west of the springs and everybody is getting assays large and small. A shipment of ore will shortly be made from the Rader mine.

The House That Trembled Built.
One of the curiosities of architecture in England is, according to The Stone Trades Journal, the house erected about 300 years ago at Rushton, in Northamptonshire, by Sir Thomas Tresham, a Roman Catholic, who wished by his design to typify the Trinity.

The house is all three, has three sides, three stories and three windows on each flat, each of them in the shape of the trefail—the three leaved shamrock. Where the roofs meet rises a three sided pyramid, terminating in a large trefail. The smoke escapes from this chimney by three round holes on each side of the three sides. The building is almost covered with mottoes and carvings, three Latin inscriptions, one on each of the three sides, having 33 letters in each. Three angles on each side bear shields. Over the door is the text from the Vulgate, "There are three that bear record." Inside the house each corner is cut off from each of the three main rooms, so that on every floor there are three three sided apartments.

Architectural Oddities.
At Frankfort-on-the-Main there is one street in which two houses on opposite sides of the street lean over so far that their roofs meet over the street. In one of these houses Lord Rothschild was born. In Paris, on the other hand, it is noticeable that the builders intentionally construct the houses so that they lean backward slightly to add to their stability. But almost in the center of Paris there is one big stone building which leans out fully 3 1/2 feet over the sidewalk. So solid, however, is the Paris buildings that this one is claimed to be safe.—Pearson's Weekly.

Told the Truth.
Mother—Now, Georgie, I shall tell your papa to punish you severely for telling an untruth. You said you didn't touch one of those six peaches, and there is only one left, and I found the five stones in your nursery.
Georgie—I told no story, mamma. The peach I didn't touch is the one that's left.

Spotted His Breakfast.
"How is the landlady this morning?" asked one of the boarders.
"Threatening and cooler," answered the man with the newspaper, misunderstanding the question.
And the other boarder, who was notoriously slow in getting with the landlady, looked partly cloudy.—Chicago Tribune.

The Next Attraction.

While some citizens have characterized "The Telephone Girl," which will be seen at the opera house Wednesday night, as "audacious," others praised it without stint. Between the two opinions there was a wide diversity, but the public, after all the best and surest critics, patronized it heartily for three consecutive seasons and even greeted it with enthusiasm. This season is its last and the cast is better, it is said, than ever before.

Impressive Ceremony.
The Smug club, an organization of good-natured yahoos, pre-acted Paddy Remoh with an implement of his trade yesterday. John is a bricklayer and the tool in question was a Brobdignagian trowel manufactured by Frank Carroll for the occasion. The economists attending the presentation by Jack O'Leary, spokesman, were so impressed that the audience burst into tears.

There is but one good goods store and it is The Palace Dry Goods House, where one can find the newest and best assortment and at reasonable prices. The Palace Dry Goods House has just received a large assortment of new yankings, all over, embroideries and lace, insertions, new wash goods, and white goods. Look at the window.
